Номокома, Остовав 11ти, 1883

THE September issue of the Friend of China contains comparatively little fresh information, and the Anti-Opium Society appear to be somewhat at a loss for new arguments to strengthen their position. Their cause is not, we imagine, gathering strength. This is not, to do the agitators justice, from any decline of zeal on their part, for they bave been most industriously carrying on their ormsade against the trade, but because the country | reduced. is growing weary of their cry. The English people are beginning, we hope, to see that there are two sides to the question, and that the Indian Government are not guilty of enormous wickedness in allowing the growth and export of opium. They are beginning; ...moreover, to recognise that, while the Chinese Government permits the production of for more opium within their own territory than is raised in India, they cannot be so very eager to abolish the habit of opium smoking. The fact, too, that the Chinese Authorities are more concepted as to the amount of revenue the imported drug can be made to yield, than to exclude it from the country is likewise beginning to be understood since ine hat despitation to the cholon Course.

tion were published. It is natural, of course, that the Friend of China should return to the charge against the Salish Go damages sustained by the sinking, some months confosity; but Englishmen do not smoke spinm vernment for still postponing the ratification of the Chafee Convention. It quotes the reply of Lord EDMUND FITZMAURICE, Under-Secretary of State for Foreign Affisirs, to a question put by Mr. HEREY RICHARD on the cause of her not leaving Tientain. 10th August in the House of Commons as to whether the Government could give the House patronage of Lady Housessy, by Mr. Mathé. any information relative to the progress of the negotiations with Chius about opium. The Under Secretary stated that the negotiations were proceeding and that proposals had been made by the Chinese Government to which Her Majestr's Government had "signified their readiness under certain con- to cease opposition to the French operations in ditions to agree." The Eriend of China. after asserting that the British Government alone are responsible for the delay in ratifying the Chefco Convention, gues on to say :--"And now, seven years after the original agreement was signed, Lord E. Firzmausics says that Hy Majsery's Government have signified their readmass to agree to the Chiness proposals "under certain conditions." What are these conditions? Judging from the past, they are intended to keep down the duties levied on opium, and thus to saleguard the Indian trade. But whatever they misepprehension which was telephoned to the which it can be expected. Fortunately there is Imperial Decree commenting Peng Yu-lin to said the present generation of Koresus shall have no other way of securing competent seamen exare, they are 'conditions' which the Government want to impose. When will Her Ma. JESTY's Government do China the simple justice of leaving her free to deal with opium, unfettered by any conditions, as free as the Indian Government is free from any conditions' imposed by Chiua?" Those conditions will up doubt he found reasonable anough, though the Government did not choose at that stage to disclose them to the worthy member for Merthyr Tylfil. the same time, we must admit that there is John Pope Hennessy, K.C.M.G., and Rear. Minister who has hitherto treated him with tively, and are expected to be treatly during the the following articles of import, i.e., Dyes, some reason in the complaint concerning the delayin the ratification of the Chefoo: Convention. We have always maintained that that agreement should either have been amended has arisen through the Chinese Governmen desiring to impose a duty on Indian opium that would prove practically prohibitive, and to this, as the British Government are not prepared to insist upon India withdrawing from the trade, they are not able to agree. Perhaps Sir HARRY PARKES may be able to suggest some compromise that will prove acceptable to both parties. The Chinese Government are, we believe, simply anxious to raise as large a revenue as possible from the imported drug, but they should re member that it is possible to kill the goosethat lave the golden eggs.

Some few years ago a scheme was elaborate for the formation of a new barbour at Manile The proposed work was of a very extensive character, involving the reclamation and fillvide funds for this great work special dues per cent, being levied on the imports, one per cent. on the exports, and tonnage dues on the shipping. The amount yielded by last month showed the collection to have amounted to $48.201, while the total collection from the date of the imposition of The Foodhow correspondent of the Shanghai the duce on the 9th September, 1880. Mercury, writing on the 2nd inst, says :- "The weather is much ocoler now. The obolers is not amounted to $1,887,611. The work on the raging quite so badly, but numbers of natives are proposed new harbour was never seriously still dying daily. There have not been any more cases among the Europeans." commenced, and the idea of proceeding with it has now been definitely abandoned. The

INSUBORDINATION OF SEAMEN.

The Chinese have it here, that as no good cently held in Calcutta to protest against the coals come down from Kaiping, and as Shui has absurdly inadequate punishment meted out to chairman, Captain Bentley, of the Windsor Park, petition presented to the Lieutenant-Governor praying that an appeal might be made to the High Court in the case of the ship Scottiel Chieftain. He added that it would be a step in the right direction to prove conclusively, as they could do, that enlors are not the saints landsmen mayine them to be, and that shipmasters are not the brutes they are generally represented as sing. The captain of the Scottish Chieftan described the nature of his grievances. He complained bitterly of the leniency which had been displayed by the magistrate towards his crew, some of whom had armed themselves with band-spikes and knives, and had then broken into the cabin, using language to his wife no fit for publication. The Court sentenced two of the men to two months' imprisonment, and four others to one mouth's imprisonment. It was decided at the meeting of shipmasters to petition the Lieutenant-Governor, and one energetic spooker declared that "if it were not heard" the higher authorities at Calcutta they should go to the Board of Trade at home: and, if they did not get satisfaction there, they should go to the fountain head, the Prime Minister, Mr. Gladstone. UNSINKABLE SHIPS.

The disaster which occurred in the English construction of large pussanger vessels we are now approaching the ideal at which engineers and shipbuilders have for years been siming. The St. Germain, bolonging to the French Fransatiantic Steamship Company, and carry. ing about 600 passengers, begines, a grew of 130 officers and mon, ran into and sank a ship usmed the Woodburn, which was in tow of the truy - Go. covery. The injury sustained by the St. Germain herself was sufficient to have muck her also had she been constructed on the old plan: but, fortunately, she is fitted with watertight bulk beads. and these prevented the water from getting farther than the forehold. It is, of course, not certain that the loss of the ship would have been sverted, but for the presence of mind of the coptain, who had a sail rigged over the damaged portion of the hull in order to reduce the pressure on the bulk lead. The mistake made by shipbuilders when they began to divide large vessels into watertight sections was that they did not sufficiently estimate the immense Germain the bulkhead must have been very nearly, if not quite, as strong as the hull itself. Obviously, if the construction of vessels in watertight compartments is carried out with proper attention to strength and to the distribution of the weight in all possible abnormal conditions, they will practically be musickable. Although the St. Germain's is not the first case in which a bulk has saved a ship, it is one o the most striking that has ever occurred, and ranks with the fest of the Arizona, which ran into an icoberg, knocked a hole in her bows big enough to permit of abarga being rowed through, and then steamed 700 miles to port.—Globe.

ROW ON BALE.

An Auglo-Chinese Dictionary, published at the Daily Press Office, Hongkong. For comprehensiveness and practical service this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have of late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid edvance of fereign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in optenso. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given. the accents being carefully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to make the will leave for the above place on MONDAY. Chinese and English type correspond in the size | the 15th October, at Fore P.M. of body, thereby effecting a vast economy of space, achieving a clearness not previously attained, and dispensing with those vast mazgins and vacant spaces which have heretolore characterised Chinese publications.

To illustrate the vast scope of the work, the following facts are submitted for consideration :— Chaimers' Vocabulary contains about 16,000 Chinese characters, and Medhurst's English CALCUTTA; and Chinese Dictionary about 100,000, whilst FIRE Company's Chartered Steamship this work contains more than 50,000 English words, and anwards of 600,000 Chinese characters. Again, despite all the grammars and Captain Scott, will be despatched for the above other elementary weeks as yet published, the Ports on TUESDAY, the 16th instant, at student of this difficult language absolutely re- THERE P.M. quires examples to display the various applications and equivalents of different words which have one general meaning. Of these examples this work contains more than five times as many as any other Dictionary hitherto published for practical purposes the arrangement of the work is so complete, that a reference to its / TYRE Steamship pages enables a person who understands English to communicate effectively with natives who understand nothing but Chinese. In this respect Captain T. S. Gardner, will be despatched the work will be found indispensable to all the above Ports on TUESDAY; the 18th instant, Europeans residing in China, and to the natives at THREE P.M. themselves it explains subjects fully with which very few indeed of them are perfectly acquainted. To parties resident in England and interested in China it cannot but be invaluable occasion-It comprises upwards of two thousand large marto pages. A Large REDUCTION in PRICE is made o Purchasers of SIX or more Copies.

EXTRACTS.

"O WIND THAT BLOWS OUT OF THE WEST." O wind that blows out of the West, Thoe hast swept over mountain and sea. Dost then bear on thy swift, glad wings The breath of my love to me ?. Hast thou kissed her warm, sweet lips P Or tangled her soft, brown hair? Or finttered the fragrant heart Of the rose she loves to wear? O sun that goes down in the West, Hast thou seen my love to day, As the sits in her beautiful prime Under skies so for away? Hast thou gilded a path for her feet, Or deepened the glow on her cheeks, Or bent from the skies to hear The low, sweet words she speaks?

O stars that are bright in the West When the hush of the night is deep, Days see my love as she lies lake a chaste, white flower asleep ! Does she amile as she walks with me In the light of a happy dream, While the night winds rustle the leaves. And the light waves ripple and gleam? O hirls that fly out of the West. Do yo bring me a message from her, An exect as your love-notes are. When the warm spring breezes stir ? Did she whisper a word of me -

As your fremulous wings swept by. Or utter my name, maybap, In a single passionate ory ! C voices out of the West Youre ellent every one, And Lever an answer comes From wind, or stars, or sun! And the blithe birds come and go Through the boundless fields of space, As reckless of human prayers As if each were a desert place : JULIA C. B. DORR, in Century.
